DETAILED ACTION

This communication is in response to the documents dated 9/5/06. Claims 1-21 are pending in the application. Claims 1, 7, 15, 21 are independent claims. Claim 21 is new.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Felsher (US 20020010679), and further in view of Lohavichan (US 2003/0101088).

As per claims 7 and 15, 18, Felsher teaches supplying dummy information to the profile database – pars. 0248, 0297-0298; accessing a service operable to request profile information from the remote profile database – pars. 203, 210; page 44, col. 1; accessing and supply correct information to the database – par. 0035, 0070, 0284. Lohavichan further improves Felsher's teaching of accessing and supply correct information to the database by teaching a profile database with pre-populated dummy profiles and supplying correct information to the profile database – pars. 0025, 0081-0097, 0107. Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to combine both teachings to better secure and manage users' profile databases.

As per claims 8, 11, 17, Felsher teaches detecting a service request and generating an update request and supply correct information to the profile database - pars. 0208-0210, 0284, and 0330.

As per claim 13, Felsher teaches correct information is stored on a local database – pars. 0063, 0068, 0350.

As per claims 9, 16, Felsher teaches an agent... - pars. 0084, 0106, 0153.

As per claim 10, Felsher teaches update request or dummy update request is generated by a user - pars. 0247-0248, 0298-0299.

As per claim 12, Felsher teaches display the status of the information supplied to the remote profile database to a user – pars. 0260, 0359.

As per claims 14, 19, Felsher teaches accessing service via the Internet, the computer being provided with an agent - pars. 0084, 0106, 0153, 0292, 0325.

As per claim 20, Felsher teaches accessing service via the Internet, the computer being provided with an agent - pars. 0084, 0106, 0153, 0292. 0325; a proxy server to communicate with user and the Internet – pars. 0032, 0037; detecting the end of the service access, generating a dummy information update request - pars. 0248-0249, 0287, 0298-0299.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-6 and 21 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-21 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
